COURT DIES WITH HONOR

The Final Session of Fire Claims Commission.

It Caused Distribution of One and Half Million.

Five Thousand Dollars Collected From Attorneys Turned Into Territorial Treasury.

All of the members of the Fire Claims Commission were present at a meeting of that body held in the Judd building yesterday morning which proved to be the last. The court, after transacting some winding up details of business, adjourned sine die. It was created by an Act of the Legislature of 1901, Governor Dole constituting it by the following appointments:

F. W. Macfarlane, chairman; F. J. Testa, A. N. Kepoikai, J. G. Pratt and A. C. Lovekin. The Commission appointed J. M. Riggs as its secretary, who performed his duties in a very methodical manner. More than 6700 claims for damages in property lost in the sanitary fires of 1899 and 1900 were heard and adjudicated.

The awards amounted to $1,473,173. Ten per cent of this amount was paid out of funds accruing mainly by the refund of interest by the United States Government on the Hawaiian national debt at annexation, which the Legislature devoted to that purpose, a deficiency of that percentage being supplied from the Territorial Treasury. This instalment left a balance of $1,325,855.70 to be paid. For its liquidation the United States Congress appropriated $1,000,000 in cash and authorized the Government of Hawaii to issue bonds for the remaining amount, in round figures, of $326,000. Of this fire claims bond issue there had been sold, up to the closing of the Treasury at noon yesterday, $241,000, leaving yet to be disposed of $85,000 belonging to claimants.

At the closing meeting a resolution was adopted instructing Secretary Riggs to turn over the archives of the Commission to the Secretary of the Territory. It was also decided and at once carried out, to turn into the Treasury, as a Government realization, the fund of $507.25 collected in fees from attorneys for certificates of award. There was a fight in the courts, it will be remembered, against the payment of fees after some had been paid under protest. Judge Gear decided in effect that the Commission had no authority to tax fees, but also that it was not bound to furnish transcripts of judgments. If the secretary furnished such he might make a charge as a perquisite to himself for the service.

This put the attorneys who had paid fees in a box when the United States Treasury agent came here to pay the awards. They could not get the fees back without surrendering the certificates in their custody, and if they did this they could not collect their awards without presenting the certificates. Hence the Government comes in for the snug realization of more than five thousand dollars.

EXCEPTIONAL PRODUCTION

The performance by the Lyceum Stock Company at the Orpheum last night received most flattering applause and favorable criticism from a large and enthusiastic audience. Every new play put on by this company seems to surpass in excellence of presentation each preceding one and the versatility of the members shows the strength on which the management has based its hopes.

Special mention is due the high class of work evinced by Adams, Kunkel, Abbott and Dixie Ward though every member showed skill and talent. The individual work taken as a whole forms a most strong company of able actors.

Next week Saturday, August 1st, the Lyceum Stock Company will play that sensational melo-drama, "In Sheep's Clothing." This is a strong play with a moral and deals with the vicious life of a black-hearted wretch who, to further his own ends and led by the lust for gold, seeks to ruin the life of an innocent man.

Plenty of comedy and farcical situations are woven in to make light and shadow balance. The comedy lead falls to George Kunkel, who is a most advanced type of the book-agent-bore, in the play, and creates plentiful merriment, causing long unused tears of mirth to flow, tears which in their escape twinkle with laughter.

The loves and adventures of "Daisy Dew" (Dixie Ward) form a little story in themselves. But finally, after many a strenuous experience, Daisy wins her point and shows "how to be happy, though married."

"In Sheep's Clothing" is full of exciting and sensational scenes and plenty of nerve-testing pictures are sprung with panoramic rapidity. There is ample room for specialties in this melo-drama and the room is all taken. It is a grand album of scenes embracing love, hate, revenge, suffering, trust, reward,—and specialties.

Tickets for reserved seats go on sale tomorrow morning at Lyons's book store, corner of Hotel and Fort streets. To order by telephone the public is respectfully requested to call up Main 401.
